Products Description

The hexagonal polyester fiber acoustic panel is a modern sound-absorbing decorative material that combines aesthetic appeal with high-performance functionality. Made from eco-friendly polyester fiber through a high-temperature fusion process, it offers excellent fire resistance, moisture-proofing, and durability while being free from harmful substances like formaldehyde.

Its unique honeycomb structure not only creates a visually striking 3D effect on walls or ceilings but also effectively absorbs mid-to-high-frequency noise, enhancing acoustic environments in spaces such as offices, conference rooms, schools, and theaters. Available in a variety of colors and sizes, the panels allow for customizable arrangements, serving both as an acoustic solution and an artistic design element.

Easy to install, the panels can be directly adhered or mounted with a framework system, adapting to different surface conditions for seamless integration into any interior. A perfect blend of performance, sustainability, and contemporary design.
